

THE HOME ENERGY HUB

The Home Energy Hub will give your customers access to multiple domestic energy tariffs, from the big 6 to small, independent suppliers.

Customers can independently raise quotes on their domestic supplies in a few minutes!

Click the fuel type you wish to compare

Once the customer has decided on a quote to contract with, they can either agree to the contract by following the online process, or call the number in the portal to speak to an advisor. Either way, the process is straightforward for customers to complete and does not require any of your involvement or admin time. Simply refer your unique Home Energy Hub weblink to your customers and watch the revenue come in!

For every meter sign up completed, a fixed commission fee will be paid out to you as the introducer. Because the customer MUST complete the process themselves, Blizzard will set you up with a unique referrer ID, so the contracts that sign up through your referrals will be tracked under your name and your commission can be paid out accordingly.

So as long as you send the customer the weblink, inclusive of your referral ID, you can look forward to starting up another additional revenue stream. The more residential contacts you send the link to, the better!

- As mentioned above, you will need to send your customers a unique link provided by Blizzard (so do not send the below link to customers as we will not be able to track that they are your customers and you will NOT receive commission)

- Please request a unique link
